What Would Drive an 8th Grader to Drink or Use Drugs? STRESS

A new report released by the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission shows that 40% of 8th graders report stress as a top reason for why they drank alcohol or used drugs like marijuana or prescription drugs. It was the third leading reason for drug use. While it may be hard to believe that 8th graders are using drugs or alcohol to cope with stress, it's important to understand what is causing their stress.

Another survey by TeensHealth.org shows that 1 out of 3 teens said that schoolwork issues and social issues caused the most stress followed closely by appearance issues. Other stressors for kids can be family issues, loss of a loved one or physical impairment.

The American Academy of pediatrics and Drugfree.org offer guidance to parents on how to help a child handle stress. Now that we know one of the top reasons why 8th graders use drugs or alcohol, here's one of the top reasons why they don't use and that's YOU. 65% of 8th graders in Arizona report they aren't using drugs because they don't want to disappoint their parents.

When our kids come home from a busy day, let's take the time to talk with them and listen to their concerns and help them find healthy ways to cope with stress or any unsettling feelings they might be having.
